

Report Phishing Button

The world of cybersecurity and scams is scary, and we're working to do what we can to keep us all protected. Along those lines, a small interface change is coming up soon and wanted to let you know about it.

We're replacing the "report phishing" button in Outlook that you may have been using to report scams:

Report
Phishing

With a new "phish alert" button which functions in exactly the same way but gives us more information on the back end and is a better tool overall.

It's possible you'll see both buttons on your toolbar, but the new "phish alert" button with the orange hook is the one we'd like you to use going forward.
